Aspen Discovery Community Mailing List

The Aspen Discovery Community now has a mailing list.

To Subscribe by e-mail, send an e-mail to:

aspen-discovery-community+subscribe@koha-us.org

The mailing list is open and available to anyone who wants to join it. It is hosted by koha-US, but it is not exclusive to Koha users.

Since it is a group on the Google platform, you can also join through your Google account and find an archive of messages at https://groups.google.com/a/koha-us.org/g/aspen-discovery-community

List managers and interim conduct policy

George Williams (USA - central time zone) - gwilliams@nekls.org

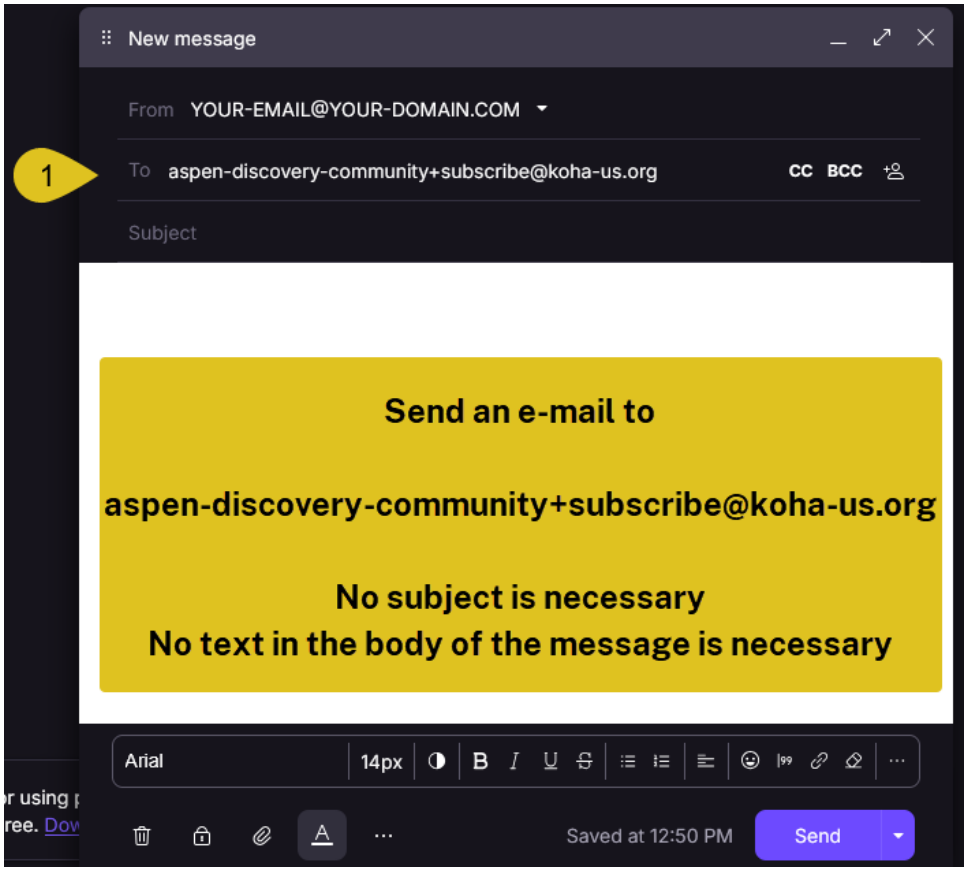

Bob Benhoff (USA - mountain time zone) - bbennhoff@clicweb.org

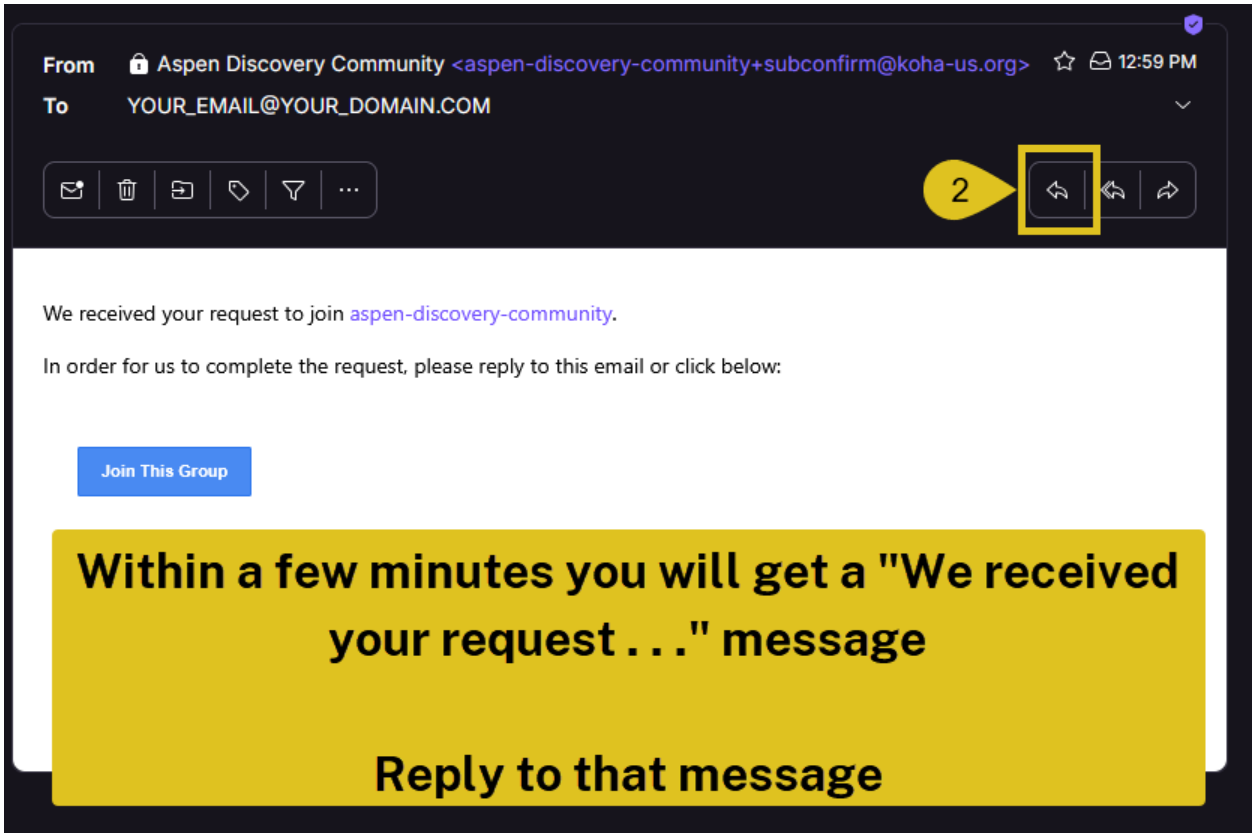

It would be helpful if there were one or two additional mailing list managers that could be available in regions/time-zones and that speak languages other than English. If you are interested in helping manage the mailing list, please contact one of the current managers.

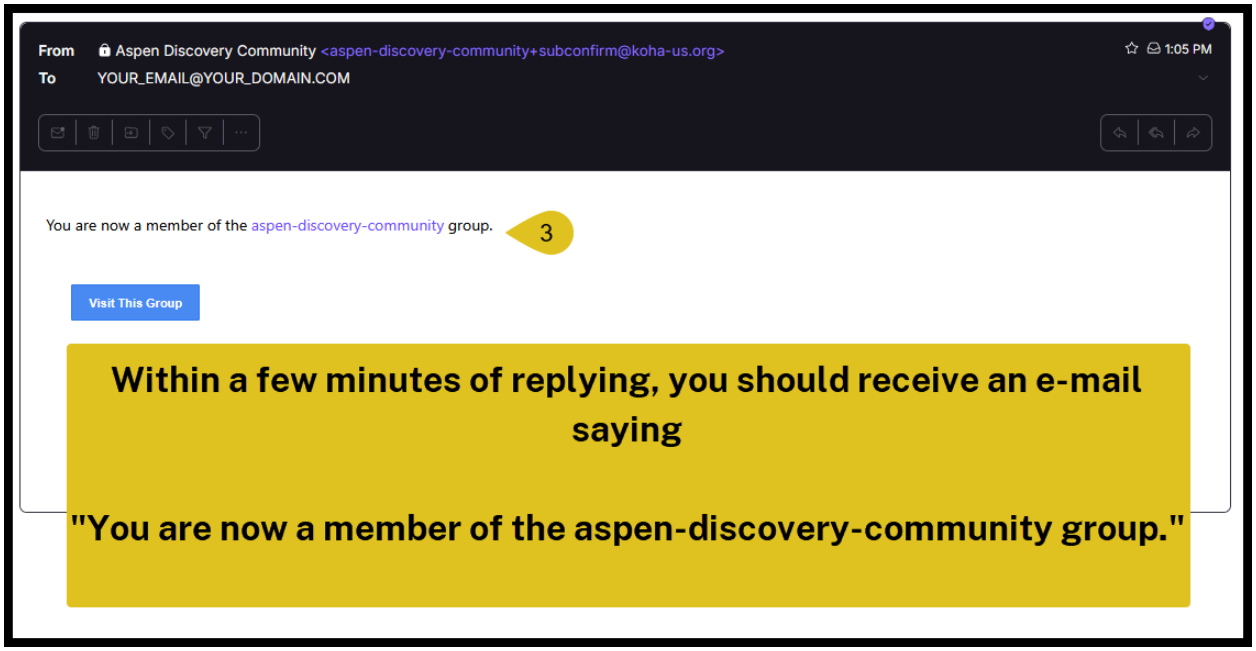

Currently the Aspen Discovery Community doesn't have a code of conduct policy, but until it does, since this list is hosted by koha-US, the list managers plan to generally follow the Koha Community Code of Conduct for conferences. That policy is available at https://koha-community.org/about/policy/code-of-conduct/

Questions and answers

Q: This list says “@koha-us.org” - is it only for Koha users?
A: Anyone can join the list. koha-US is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization established by Koha users in the USA to promote Koha use. Many members of the koha-US community also use Aspen Discovery and they offered to let the Aspen Discovery community use their Google Groups system until such a time as the Aspen Discovery has its own systems in place.

Q: Why not just start a Google group at groups.google.com?
A: Google groups hosted by Google have a different back-end platform than Google groups hosted by private Google Workspace groups. If we used a Google group hosted by Google, it would not be possible to export that group to a different platform or even a private Google workspace in the future.

Q: Why does Google do that?
A: Seriously, it’s Google. Who knows what they’re thinking.

Q: Can I access a list of members of this group.
A: For the sake of user’s privacy, only the group managers can see a lis of members.

Q: Someone in the group is being inappropriate or unprofessional. What do I do?
A: Contact one of the group managers. There is a list at the top of this document.

Q: I’m having trouble un-subscribing. What do I do?
A: Contact one of the group managers. There is a list at the top of this document, but, as a side note, at least one organization has subscribed their own in-house staff mailing list to this group. Google calls this sub-group a nested-group. If you are a member of a nested group, you must ask the manager of your in-house staff mailing list to remove you from the in-house mailing list in order to stop receiving e-mails from the Aspen Discovery Community mailing list.
